Thomas R. Knight is a registered patent attorney and associate at Andrus Intellectual Property Law.

Tom focuses his practice on domestic and international patent and trademark prosecution and enforcement. He counsels clients regarding patentability and infringement issues and provides written patentability and clearance opinions.

Tom has experience across a wide variety of technologies and enterprises, integrating business objectives with intellectual property assets for long-term strategic planning.

Tom joined the firm after graduating with honors from the Marquette University Law School. While at Marquette, Tom was elected President of the Intellectual Property Law Society.

Prior to attending law school, Tom earned a bachelor of science degree in biomedical engineering from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He subsequently worked for several years in engineering, manufacturing, and operational roles at a Fortune 50 corporation. During this time, Tom also earned a masters degree in business administration (MBA) from Marquette University.

Tom is admitted to practice law before the Supreme Court of Wisconsin and the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, and is a member of the Wisconsin Intellectual Property Law Association, the American Bar Association, the Milwaukee Bar Association and the State Bar of Wisconsin.
